Our Optical Department still goes along in the even tenor of its way despite all opposition. Every day we fit somebody either with a pair of Eyeglasses for 25c., and once in a while we get as high as $2.00. We can't go higher because that is the best pair of crystals you can buy and why pay more? The reason is that we do not need any special two weeks' study of the question, because our instrument, the EYEMETER, is so simple that its test is absolute. Doesn't matter if your eyes are myopic, astigmatic or any other ailment, that instrument gets there every time.

TAKING DOWN THE FLAG.

Leading United States Opinion on the Incident.
(Omaha, Nebraska, Bee.)

Discussion of the action of Commissioner Blount, in pursuance of instructions before his departure to Hawaii, in ordering the removal of the American flag from the government building at Honolulu, continues. The administration is sharply criticised for this proceeding even by republican papers which have not approved of annexation. It ought to be apparent to those who do this that they discredit the attitude of the preceding administration regarding the raising of the flag. That act under the authority of the American minister, taken entirely upon his own responsibility, was distinctly disavowed by President Harrison. Minister Stevens was informed that so far as his action appeared to overstep the limit of providing adequate protection for American interests, "by setting the authority and power of the United States above that of the government of the Hawaiian islands in the capacity of protector, or to impair in any way the independent sovereignty of the Hawaiian government by substituting the flag and the power of the United States as the symbol and manifestation of paramount authority, it is disavowed." It is impossible to misunderstand the meaning of this explicit language. It was in effect a declaration that the raising of the flag over the capitol of Hawaii was unwarranted, and it is perfectly obvious that if the American minister had done his duty he would have ordered the flag removed immediately upon hearing from Washington.

In this view of the matter, and it is the only one that can fairly be taken, it is plain that the present administration has simply acted in accordance with the position of its predecessor. If there was no justification for raising the flag "as the symbol and manifestation of paramount authority" the only proper thing to do was to remove it. The American minister having made a mistake the plain duty of the government was to correct it. It has been suggested that England or Germany would not have taken this course under like circumstances, but this government does not model its policy upon that of European governments and is not called upon to consider what they might do in any given state of things. Besides it is very questionable whether a British or German minister would in the absence of instructions from the government assume such responsibility as the American minister to Hawaii assumed. The trained diplomats of those countries act with better judgment and discretion than was shown in this case and it is entirely safe to say that they would not persist in an action after it had been distinctly disavowed and repudiated by their governments.

Another question raised in connection with this Hawaiian matter is whether the president did not exceed his constitutional authority in appointing a commissioner to supersede the minister. Secretary Gresham is said to recognize the fact that a mistake was made and Senator Butler, the chairman of the senate committee on foreign affairs, is quoted as expressing the opinion that the president cannot, without the advice and consent of the senate, commission a person to supersede the United States minister. It is contended that if the president possesses this power all he would have to do would be to send his private representative to supersede a minister whenever he saw fit. There may be some force in this, but it seems altogether improbable that the action of the president, deliberately taken, was outside of his constitutional authority. Judging from Washington advices, the prevailing impression there is that the administration is not favorable to annexation, but that it will permit no foreign power to interfere in Hawaiian affairs.

[Springfield, Mass., Republican.]

We have seen a great many newspaper comments on the action of the administration in having the American flag hauled down from the government building at Honolulu. Almost without exception republican papers strongly condemn and democrats uphold this course. This attitude of the republican organs is not very hopeful for the cause of popular government. It speaks for a jingo spirit much out of place in this country. They do not found their criticism on any code of law or morals or custom, but are content with Senator Cullom of Illinois, to cry out that "it is not the first time that democrats have ordered down the flag of the country." Why do not the instructions given to Minister Stevens by Secretary Foster under the last administration receive some attention and respect in this connection? This is what the Harrison administration said of the matter.

"But so far as your action may appear to overstep that limit by setting the authority and power of the United States above that of the government of the Hawaiian islands in the capacity of protector, or to impair in any way the independent sovereignty of the Hawaiian government by substituting the flag and the power of the United States as the symbol and manifestation of paramount authority, it is disavowed."

We have come to a strange turn in the country's history if such an act as that of Minister Stevens at Honolulu is to be hailed with approval by the representatives of one of the great political parties of the nation. Hereafter it is to be considered a high crime officially to pull down the flag where unofficially run up? What a merry race of robber conquest the principle will lead us to, if insisted on. Every petty consul or minister of the government, in whatever part of the world stationed, is to be allowed on his own motion to plant the stars and stripes over every revolutionary uprising which may happen about him, and then the whole force of the government at home is to go to the support of the flag so raised! And then a United States senator from Massachusetts, who sits in the seat once occupied by Charles Sumner, is to introduce a resolution, if perchance the act of the consul or minister is repudiated, demanding to know by whose authority the flag came down.

It is to be feared that the republicans have so long assumed a particular guardianship of the flag that they have come to consider as of no consequence what the flag may represent. If they see it floating anywhere they assume that it must float there forever or the government is insulted and the majesty of the people humiliated. The republic is not quite yet prepared to enter upon the conquest of the whole world in any such manner. It is a policy which the republican party will do well to shun.

IS THIS MASSACHUSETTS?

Shining Example of Good Government for Hawaii.

By what stretch of license are the cigars smoked by committees of the legislature paid for out of the treasury of the state? It would be just as legitimate to pay the washing bills of our legislators as to pay for the cigars smoked by them, the one expense being no more purely personal than the other. Yet during the month of March the committee on mercantile affairs made away with $47 worth of cigars, as did the committee on rapid transit, while the committee on public charitable institutions smoked $18 worth of cigars, the committee on prisons $1575 worth, the committee on railroads $10 worth, the committee on harbors and public lands $550 worth, the committee on railroads $7 worth, the committee on towns the same, the committee on roads and bridges $350 worth and the committee on water supply $3 more. Here is a total of $16925 that should never be paid out of the public money, for the principle involved is worth standing for. If the smokers want to smoke, let them do so at their own expense. Small things reveal character, and the men who let the state pay for their cigars encourage the prevalent and mischievous doctrine that anything got out of "the government" is clear gain. The report of Sergeant-at-Arms Adams also shows that the journeyings of the committee on mercantile affairs cost the treasurer $1166, and the junket of the committee on rapid transit involved an outlay of $1652. We are perfectly safe in predicting that the source of benefit to legislation from these journeys will be represented by a zero mark. The committees of the Springfield city government find it possible to gather all the light they can use by writing letters, and they certainly digest it better. It requires more moral courage than the average legislator possesses to tell the truth about the junket.—[Springfield Republican.]

Wanted! Wanted!

Some smart aleck to try and stop my passport, as I am about to leave the island for some other seaport town. Also one good collector to collect some bills. He must be honest, upright and sober; only those who can furnish first-class reference to the above facts need apply. All cash security must be furnished. Please call on or address Hon. A. L. Johnson, the American Shirt Maker, corner King and Alakea streets, Honolulu, between the hours of 8 a. m. and 12 p. m., where you will always find him making all kinds of shirts to order with all the latest improvements and only for honest people who pay their honest cash, and not any bluffs. All persons having bad bills to collect give them to me and I will see to collect them. My board bill is now paid at Pahala. And now look out for some fun all those who are interested in my welfare.

Wise and Otherwise.

The word "rascal" originally meant "a servant." It now means a servant who has held office during the last four years.

The Brute—"Does he write to you regularly since you became engaged?" "No. Sometimes I only get one letter a day."—[Life.]

A man at Downs was so absent-minded that he mailed a Columbian postage stamp and forgot to stick the letter to it.—[Kansas Journal.]

There is nothing I have ever used for muscular rheumatism that gives me as much relief as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I have been using it for about two years—four bottles in all—as occasion required, and always keep a bottle of it in my home. I believe I know a good thing when I get hold of it, and Pain Balm is the best liniment I have ever met with. W. B. Denny, dairyman, New Lexington, Ohio. 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., agents for the Hawaiian Islands.
